2010–2011 INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY LAW PROGRAM CALENDAR

Sept. 27, 2010
The Ethical Ramifications of Therasense
5–6:30 p.m., National Press Club, Washington, D.C.
A patent is an exclusive right conferred by the United States government to promote the progress of science and the useful arts. When that right is procured through fraud, the patent may be held unenforceable. An applicant has a duty to disclose to the Patent Office “all information known to be material to patentability,” per 37 CFR 1.56 ("Rule 56"). Intentional failure to do so can result in the patent being held unenforceable for inequitable conduct. What does this mean? Must parties disclose hundreds of prior art references or risk a finding of inequitable conduct rendering the patent unenforceable? What does it mean to intentionally fail to disclose all material information? Is the defense of inequitable conduct being abused in litigation, as parties seek to render unenforceable the patent they are accused of infringing?

Nov. 9, 2010
The Ethical Ramifications of Therasense: A Post-Argument Debriefing
4–5:30 p.m., Columbus School of Law, Washington, D.C.
On Nov. 9, 2010, the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit will be hearing Therasense v. Becton en banc. This important case promises long-lasting ramifications on the practice of patent law, and promises to provide an exploration of the inequitable conduct landscape. Following the argument, please join The Catholic University of America, Columbus School of Law and the Federal Circuit Bar Association in a lively and probing discussion of the argument from 4 to 5:30 p.m. The panel will be moderated by the Honorable Paul R. Michel, retired chief judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. All arguing parties have agreed to participate.

Spring 2011
Dean William C. Robinson Inaugural Lecture
This lecture series was established to honor the founding dean of our law school, and author of "The Law of Patents." Speaker: Jeffrey Lefstin, University of California, Hastings College of Law

Spring 2011
Intellectual Property Roundtable
The Intellectual Property Roundtable promotes discussion of a range of issues in intellectual property amongst intellectual property law professors. Previous presenters include scholars from George Mason University, the University of Maryland, Regent University, the University of Richmond and the University of Virginia.

For more information about CUA's Intellectual Property Law Program and upcoming events, please log on to www.law.edu/intellectualproperty/.
In 1890, the founding dean of our law school, William C. Robinson, said the time was ripe for “the Law of Patents [to] be successfully treated as a department of jurisprudence.” That statement is as true today as it was when he wrote it, and here at Catholic University we are pleased to share some of the highlights of our Intellectual Property Law Program with you. Our “department of jurisprudence” has 15 faculty members, a vibrant Intellectual Property Student Law Association and a distinguished cadre of alumni in private practice, in the government and in the judiciary.

In 1890, the founding dean of our law school, William C. Robinson, said the time was ripe for “the Law of Patents [to] be successfully treated as a department of jurisprudence.” That statement is as true today as it was when he wrote it, and here at Catholic University we are pleased to share some of the highlights of our Intellectual Property Law Program with you. Our “department of jurisprudence” has 15 faculty members, a vibrant Intellectual Property Student Law Association and a distinguished cadre of alumni in private practice, in the government and in the judiciary.

FULL-TIME IP FACULTY

Susanna Fischer
Susanna Fischer received her legal education at Merton College, University of Oxford, where she received a B.A. in jurisprudence, and the University of Virginia School of Law, where she was awarded the LL.M. degree. She has practiced intellectual property law on both sides of the Atlantic, as a barrister in the London Chambers 5 Raymond Buildings, Gray’s Inn, and as an attorney in two New York City law firms, Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP, and Paul, Hastings, Janofsky and Walker LLP. Fischer teaches Art Law and Copyright Law, as well as a survey course on intellectual property law for Polish students in the American Law Program in Krakow, Poland, a joint project sponsored by The Catholic University of America’s Columbus School of Law and the Jagellonian University. She has published articles and book chapters on various intellectual property law issues, often from a comparative perspective.

Megan La Belle

Elizabeth Winston
Elizabeth Winston earned her S.B. from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and her J.D. from the University of Virginia. After law school, she served as a law clerk to the Honorable Paul R. Michel on the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, and to the Honorable James T. Turner on the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, was awarded an honorary degree by Dean Veryl V. Miles.

ARTICLES & BOOKS

- "What If Seeds Were Not Patentable?" 2008 Michigan State Law Review 321 (2008); and

DISTINGUISHED LECTURER

The Honorable Edward J. Damich ‘77
Judge Edward J. Damich was appointed to the United States Court of Federal Claims in 1998. He served as chief judge from 2002 to 2009. From 1995 to 1998, Judge Damich served as chief intellectual property counsel for the Senate Judiciary Committee. During his tenure on the committee, he assisted the chairman, Senator Orrin Hatch, with the passage of the Digital Millennium Copyright Act (DMCA), the most significant change in copyright law since the Copyright Act of 1976. Judge Damich teaches Advanced Issues in Copyright, Trademark and Patent Law.

PART-TIME IP FACULTY

Scott A. Chambers
Patton Boggs

The Honorable Joseph V. Colaianni
Patton Boggs

Robert M. Fuhrer
Pillsbury Winthrop Shaw Pittman

Robert W. Keene
Miles & Stockbridge

Charles H. Kennedy
Wilkinson Barker Knauer, LLP

John V. Kenny ‘72
Eluminate Group, Inc.

Matthew J. Laskoski
Patton Boggs

Scott J. Pivnick
Alston & Bird LLP

Donald E. Purcell
The Center for Global Standards Analysis

Seth A. Watkins
Steptoe & Johnson LLP

Michele J. Woods
United States Copyright Office

PART-TIME IP FACULTY

Scott A. Chambers
Patton Boggs

The Honorable Joseph V. Colaianni
Patton Boggs

Robert M. Fuhrer
Pillsbury Winthrop Shaw Pittman

Robert W. Keene
Miles & Stockbridge

Charles H. Kennedy
Wilkinson Barker Knauer, LLP

John V. Kenny ‘72
Eluminate Group, Inc.

Matthew J. Laskoski
Patton Boggs

Scott J. Pivnick
Alston & Bird LLP

Donald E. Purcell
The Center for Global Standards Analysis

Seth A. Watkins
Steptoe & Johnson LLP

Michele J. Woods
United States Copyright Office

OUR PROGRAM

Art Law
Copyright Law
Advanced Copyright/Trademark Law
Cyberlaw I
Cyberlaw II
Entertainment Law
Intellectual Property Transactions
International Intellectual Property
Introduction to Intellectual Property
Patent Enforcement
Patent Law
Advanced Patent Law
Professional Sports and the Law
Trademarks & Unfair Competition

SELECTED STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Intellectual Property Intra-School Moot Court Competition
Intellectual Property Law Students Association
Sports & Entertainment Law Society
ComLit Law Conceptus Journal of Communications Law & Policy
Giles Sutherland Rich Inn of Court
NTA-Saul Lefkowitz Trademark Moot Court Competition
In 1890, the founding dean of our law school, William C. Robinson, said the time was ripe for “the Law of Patents [to] be successfully treated as a department of jurisprudence.” That statement is as true today as it was when he wrote it, and here at Catholic University we are pleased to share some of the highlights of our Intellectual Property Law Program with you. Our “department of jurisprudence” has 15 faculty members, a vibrant Intellectual Property Student Law Association and a distinguished cadre of alumni in private practice, in the government and in the judiciary.

FULL-TIME IP FACULTY

Susanna Fischer
Susanna Fischer received her legal education at Merton College, University of Oxford, where she received a B.A. in jurisprudence, and the University of Virginia School of Law, where she was awarded the LL.M. degree. She has practiced intellectual property law on both sides of the Atlantic, as a barrister in the London Chambers 5 Raymond Buildings, Gray’s Inn, and as an attorney in two New York City law firms, Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP, and Paul, Hastings, Janofsky and Walker LLP. Fischer teaches Art Law and Copyright Law, as well as a survey course on intellectual property law for Polish students in the American Law Program in Krakow, Poland, a joint project sponsored by The Catholic University of America’s Columbus School of Law and the Jagiellonian University. She has published articles and book chapters on various intellectual property law issues, often from a comparative perspective.

Megan La Belle
Megan La Belle earned her B.A., summa cum laude, from UCLA and her J.D. from U.C. Davis where she was elected to the Order of the Coif. After law school, La Belle served as a law clerk to the Honorable Stephen S. Trott on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, and to the Honorable Margaret M. Morrow on the U.S. District Court for the Central District of California. Her publications include “Patent Litigation, Personal Jurisdiction, and the Public Good,” George Mason Law Review (forthcoming 2010); “Virtual Contacts in Patent Cases: How Should Internet-Related Contacts Affect the Personal Jurisdiction Analysis?,” 13 No. 12 J. Internet L. 25 (June 2010); and “The ‘Rootkit Debacle’: The Latest Chapter in the Story of the Recording Industry and the War on Music Piracy,” 84 Denv. U.L. Rev. 79 (2006). La Belle teaches and researches in the areas of intellectual property and procedure.

Elizabeth Winston

DISTINGUISHED LECTURER

The Honorable Edward J. Damich ’77
Judge Edward J. Damich was appointed to the United States Court of Federal Claims in 1998. He served as chief judge from 2002 to 2009. From 1995 to 1998, Judge Damich served as chief intellectual property counsel for the Senate Judiciary Committee. During his tenure on the committee, he assisted the chairman, Senator Orrin Hatch, with the passage of the Digital Millennium Copyright Act (DMCA), the most significant change in copyright law since the Copyright Act of 1976. Judge Damich teaches Advanced Issues in Copyright, Trademark and Patent Law.

PART-TIME IP FACULTY

Scott A. Chambers
Patton Boggs

The Honorable Joseph V. Colaianni
Patton Boggs

Robert M. Fuhrer
Pillsbury Winthrop Shaw Pittman

Robert W. Keene
Miles & Stockbridge

Charles H. Kennedy
Wilkinson Barker Knauer, LLP

John V. Kenny ’72
Eluminate Group, Inc.

Matthew J. Laskoski
Patton Boggs

Scott J. Pivnick
Alston & Bird LLP

Donald E. Purcell
The Center for Global Standards Analysis

Seth A. Watkins
Steptoe & Johnson LLP

Michele J. Woods
United States Copyright Office

OUR PROGRAM

Art Law
Copyright Law
Advanced Copyright/Trademark Law
Cyberlaw I
Cyberlaw II
Entertainment Law
Intellectual Property Transactions
International Intellectual Property
Introduction to Intellectual Property
Patent Enforcement
Patent Law
Advanced Patent Law
Professional Sports and the Law
Trademarks & Unfair Competition

SELECTED STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Intellectual Property Intra-School Moot Court Competition
Intellectual Property Law Students Association
Sports & Entertainment Law Society
CommLaw Conspexitus Journal of Communications Law & Policy
Giles Sutherland Rich Inn of Court
NTA-Saul Lefkowitz Trademark Moot Court Competition
2010–2011 INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY LAW PROGRAM CALENDAR

Sept. 27, 2010

The Ethical Ramifications of Therasense
5–6:30 p.m., National Press Club, Washington, D.C.

A patent is an exclusive right conferred by the United States government to promote the progress of science and the useful arts. When that right is procured through fraud, the patent may be held unenforceable. An applicant has a duty to disclose to the Patent Office “all information known to be material to patentability,” per 37 CFR 1.56 (“Rule 56”). Intentional failure to do so can result in the patent being held unenforceable for inequitable conduct. What does this mean? Must parties disclose hundreds of prior art references or risk a finding of inequitable conduct rendering the patent unenforceable? What does it mean to intentionally fail to disclose all material information? Is the defense of inequitable conduct being abused in litigation, as parties seek to render unenforceable the patent they are accused of infringing?

Nov. 9, 2010

The Ethical Ramifications of Therasense: A Post-Argument Debriefing
4–5:30 p.m., Columbus School of Law, Washington, D.C.

On Nov. 9, 2010, the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit will be hearing Therasense v. Becton en banc. This important case promises long-lasting ramifications on the practice of patent law, and promises to provide an exploration of the inequitable conduct landscape. Following the argument, please join The Catholic University of America, Columbus School of Law and the Federal Circuit Bar Association in a lively and probing discussion of the argument from 4 to 5:30 p.m. The panel will be moderated by the Honorable Paul R. Michel, retired chief judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. All arguing parties have agreed to participate.

Spring 2011

Dean William C. Robinson Inaugural Lecture
This lecture series was established to honor the founding dean of our law school, and author of “The Law of Patents.” Speaker: Jeffrey Lefstin, University of California, Hastings College of Law

Spring 2011

Intellectual Property Roundtable
The Intellectual Property Roundtable promotes discussion of a range of issues in intellectual property amongst intellectual property law professors. Previous presenters include scholars from George Mason University, the University of Maryland, Regent University, the University of Richmond and the University of Virginia.

For more information about CUA’s Intellectual Property Law Program and upcoming events, please log on to www.law.edu/intellectualproperty/.