Preface

The purpose of this bibliography is to record in one place the substantial body of scholarship produced by the faculty at the Catholic University, Columbus School of Law. From its humble beginnings under the tutelage of founding Dean William Callyhan Robinson, through its adolescent period when, like so many other American law schools, it was trying to define its pedagogical niche, to its eventual merger with the Columbus University Law School in 1954, the law school at Catholic University has always retained a scholarly and remarkably productive faculty. The sheer quantity of writing, the breadth of research and the impressive list of law journals that include our faculty among their authors are exemplary. The publishing houses which regularly engage our faculty as authors are likewise impressive. One can certainly appreciate why the Columbus School of Law has been, and continues to be, a leader among law schools in scholarly research and writing.

Ours is a richly textured faculty with a wide variety of professional experience: academia, law firms, government, courts, and business. They write in widely diverse areas of the law, their topics both national in scope and seminal in nature. Through their scholarship they seek to evaluate constructively what is law, to effect changes in poorly constructed law, and to develop arenas for critical thinking about what law should be. Firmly believing that it is useful to occasionally sit back and reflect upon the heritage that has shaped this law school and the careers of so many alumni and alumnae.

This bibliography, prepared by the staff of the Judge Kathryn J. DuFour Law Library, will be updated as our faculty continues to produce scholarship. It should be noted that not all the publications authored by our faculty are reflected in this document; reprinted works, book reviews, newspapers articles, bibliographies, short testimonials, introductory statements, hearing transcripts, trade publications, blog posts, and newsletter articles are all examples of the various publications that have been excluded from this work. However, we have attempted to include all the scholarly works that have been brought to our attention.
Note: The citations in this bibliography are adapted from the 19th edition of The BlueBook: A Uniform System of Citation.
