

Jennifer Choi

COUNSEL & SENIOR POLICY ADVISER / WASHINGTON, DC

Practice

Jennifer S. Choi is counsel and senior policy adviser to the firm. She is based in the Washington, D.C. office and is engaged and advises on a wide variety of regulatory, governance, and market matters. Jennifer has almost 30 years of experience in the public policy arena for the financial services industry with expertise on regulatory and policy trends and strategic engagement with policymaking bodies. Jennifer also brings significant global perspective with extensive experience working on international issues in Europe and Asia.

Until February 2022, Jennifer was chief counsel of ICI Global, heading the global policy work for the Investment Company Institute (the leading trade association representing regulated investment funds). During her 16 years at ICI, she has held various roles, including associate general counsel for global capital markets policy and associate counsel for international policy. Earlier in her career, Jennifer worked at the Investment Adviser Association. From 1995 to 1999, she held various positions at the US Securities and Exchange Commission, including assistant director in the Division of Investment Management and special counsel in the Division of Market Regulation (now the Division of Trading and Markets). At the SEC, she also received the Martha Platt Award for dedication, excellence, and integrity.

In addition to her work at the firm, Jennifer is a Professorial Lecturer in Law at the George Washington University School of Law teaching Regulation of Mutual Funds and Their Investment Advisers. From 2006 to 2018, Jennifer also served as an adjunct professor of law at American University's Washington College of Law.
