

Wednesday, February 24, 2010

8:30 a.m.—5:15 p.m.

Hosted at:

Wiley Rein LLP

1776 K Street NW

Washington, DC 20006

Free for government/academics/students; $75 for private sector.

Application for Virginia CLE credits pending.

To register, click here.

AGENDA

Morning Keynote

Edward Lazarus, Chief of Staff, Federal Communications Commission Chairman Julius Genachowski

Panel I: What Should, and What Will, Be in the Broadband Plan?

Speakers will discuss, from the perspective of their industries, what should be in the National Broadband Plan, and what they forecast to be in the Broadband Plan.

Panel II: International Broadband: How Others Connect

Speakers will discuss how other countries have instituted national broadband plans, lessons learned from those plans, and what may work in the U.S. marketplace.

Luncheon Debate – The Preserving the Open Internet NPRM

Moderator: Bryan Tramont, Managing Partner, Wilkinson Barker Knauer

Debaters: Adam Thierer, President, Progress & Freedom Foundation, Ben Scott, Policy Director, Free Press

Panel III: Content Regulation on the Second and Third Screens

Speakers will discuss the possibility, need, and wisdom of regulating media content on the second (computer) and third (mobile device) screens, including whether the FCC has the statutory authority to do so.

Panel IV: Roles and Responsibilities in the National Broadband Plan

Speakers will discuss how different government agencies will have roles in implementing the National Broadband Plan, including their agencies' efforts to date in increasing broadband deployment and adoption.

Keynote Address

Speaker: Julius Genachowski, Chairman, Federal Communications Commission (Invited)

 Additional speakers and panelists to be announced in coming weeks. Please check the CommLaw Conspectus website regularly for updates.

Sponsored by

The Catholic University of America Columbus School of Law's CommLaw Conspectus: Journal of Communications Law & Policy and the Institute for Communications Law Studies, in cooperation with the Federal Communications Bar Association

To register, click here.

The Catholic University of America
Columbus School of Law
Washington, DC 20064